

Lee Street Park Rules

Lee Street Park is a public space, and visitors should be respectful of themselves, others, and park property. The following rules and regulations are provided to ensure that your visit is pleasant and enjoyable. These policies are maintained in consideration of our guests and to protect the resources within Lee Street Park. Please be sure that all members of your party are aware of these conditions prior to arrival. While this abridged listing does not include all regulations pertaining to activities in state parks, it does address some of the more common questions and concerns. There are some specific regulations governing behavior in parks that we would like to emphasize.
